Manitoba Premises Identification

Premises identification is a way of linking livestock and poultry to geographic locations for responding to emergencies.

The term 'premises' refers to a parcel of land where livestock or poultry are grown, kept, assembled or disposed of.

Premises include:

- farms/stables
- feedlots
- pastures
- community pastures
- hatcheries
- abattoirs
- assembly yards
- auction/livestock sale facilities
- rendering plants
- zoos/petting zoos
- exhibition/fair grounds/race tracks/competition facilities
- veterinary hospitals and labs
- insemination centres
- livestock and poultry research facilities

Benefits of premises identification

Premises identification is a tool used to plan for and manage animal health and food safety emergencies. It is one of the three pillars of a complete traceability system, which also includes animal identification and animal movement reporting.

Premises identification:

- allows for rapid notification of livestock and poultry stakeholders
- helps prepare for animal health and food safety emergencies (ex: disease or flood)
- helps track animals in an emergency
- reduces the impact of an emergency
- sustains or increases market access

How premises information is used

Owners or operators provide basic land and contact information and this information will be used for emergency management, to prevent, prepare for, respond to or recover from a disaster, a reportable or emerging disease outbreak or an emergency that threatens animal or human health.

Premises identification is mandatory under The Animal Diseases Act. Owners and operators are required to identify their livestock or poultry premises by completing an application.

Your personal information is kept confidential and is protected by the Protection of Privacy provisions of The Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act (FIPPA). If you have any questions about the collection of personal information, contact Manitoba Agriculture's FIPPA Coordinator at 204-945-0913.
